Biographical/Historical note

Arthur Mayger Hind (1880-1857) was the Keeper of the Department of Prints at the British Museum from 1933 to 1945. He was an acknowledged expert on prints, particularly Italian, and was a prolific writer and lecturer. A full biography can be found in the "Dictionary of Art Historians" and other standard reference works.

Scope and Contents note

This collection of the research notebooks of Arthur Mayger Hind was transferred to the archives from the Ingalls Library in 2010. The collection was purchased for the library at an unknown date although it is assumed after the death of Mr. Hind in 1957.

The notebooks consist of the handwritten lectures, research, and observations of the Keeper of the Department of Prints at the British Museum. Many of the notebooks contain folded letters and scraps of paper containing notes and drawings. They have been arranged alphabetically by topic.

Arrangement note

Notebooks have been arranged as much as possible by topic as noted on the cover or spine of each book, although some notebooks have topics scratched off and new ones written in so there may be some out of place. The arrangement is primarily alphabetical. A bibliography of Hind's works was consulted during the arrangement.
